

LAUSANNE CONFERENCE HAS SCOTCHTAILED Treaty Is Labeled by Delegates

Alarming Reports Are Heard of an Agreement Between Turks, Russia

Amazing Signs Mark Tragic Ending of Negotiations Which Lasted Over Three Months—Almost Whole Diplomatic World Used Efforts to Get Turks to Sign Treaty But Without Avail

MUSTAFA KEMAL PASHA is head of the Turkish Nationalist government and commander-in-chief of the Turkish army. He was born in 1878 at Salonica, Macedonia, and entered a military school in 1895. He was promoted to lieutenant in 1900 and to captain in 1905. He was a participant in Young Turk Revolution.

LAUSANNE, Feb. 4.—The failure of the Near East conference has caused a recurrence of alarmist reports of a secret military convention between Turkey and Russia. An eminent European statesman, who was one of the main participants in the conference, said to the correspondents a few days ago:

"We are confronted here with a few military forces. Who knows whether peace can be obtained?"

In view of the existing economic situation in Europe, it is these insouciant and mysterious forces which have created the note of genuine alarm in official circles, for if the Turks have refused what seemed to the allies a reasonable peace, it is believed they must feel sure of themselves and their future.

LAUSANNE, Feb. 4.—The Near East conference has failed to restore peace in the Near East and the conference called for the purpose of settling the Turkish question has been continued up to the very moment when the Turkish representatives have been ordered to leave the conference.

Turks' Refusal to Sign Treaty Has Aroused Uneasiness in London

Great Britain Has Gone to Limit in Concessions, in Belief of London Papers

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The Turkish refusal to sign the treaty at Lausanne, although regarded here as probable, has caused great disappointment and regret. It is widely considered that the Turkish refusal to sign the treaty is a serious blow to the peace movement in the Near East.

ISMET PASHA AWAITS WORD FROM ALLIES

Says This Is Vitally Important as Armistice Ends with Conference

LAUSANNE, Feb. 4.—Receiving the correspondence late tonight Ismet Pasha remarked that he was awaiting official notification from the powers that the conference was closed. This was vitally important because the armistice of Mudanya continued during the period of the conference only. Until officially notified, he would consider the conference as still existing. He was ready to re-open the discussions, but would make no more concessions than which he had gone to the utmost limit.

THE MORNING BULLETIN

The morning newspaper is essentially a "news" paper. The events and activities of the preceding day in all parts of the world are collected in the evening and sent over the cables and wires during the early part of the night, in time to appear in the morning paper. The news thus sent covers the range of parliamentary proceedings, markets and sports.

What applies to news from afar applies equally to news at home. Local events of the afternoon and night, together with reports of meetings, social events and local sports are placed before the reader on his breakfast table. If he is actively interested, the information he gathers from the morning paper is available for use during the day. The city man of business or affairs is not equipped for his daily work without the morning paper.

In the household in which the morning paper comes the housewife has the day in which to become familiar with news of interest to her, and to study advantageous opportunities in the advertising columns.

The visitor to the city takes his measure by reading the morning paper, and is impressed favorably or otherwise by the manner in which it presents the city and its interests and activities to him.

Of the twelve railway lines radiating from Edmonton the trains depart in the morning or early afternoon on the cloven of them. The morning paper therefore is the medium which keeps the residents of adjacent towns most closely in touch with world affairs and with those of the city as well.

The morning paper reaches the near outside points in time for noon reading, and the further points in time for early evening.

Having dropped the evening and disposed of the semi-weekly editions, The Bulletin is able to devote its full attention to producing a morning paper that will do credit to Edmonton and fulfill all purposes required of it.

The Saturday edition of The Morning Bulletin will contain all the special features formerly carried by the Semi-Weekly, and others will be added from time to time.

To meet the convenience of those who do not wish to take a paper every day, the Saturday edition of The Morning Bulletin is offered separately at $1.00 a year. Saturday subscribers will get the news of that day as promptly as other daily subscribers.

Note: Owing to difficulty in adjusting matters promptly, advertisers in The Semi-Weekly Bulletin are respectfully requested to accept a delay of one month in the fulfillment of their contracts. The same applies to paid-in-advance subscribers.

Live Stock Exchange To Adopt Open and Closed Shop Order On Stockyards

By This Regulation Persons or Firms Buying on Yards Will Be Required to Pay Cash, Put up a Bond or Be Guaranteed by Commission House Through Which They Do Business

At the annual meeting of the Edmonton Live Stock Exchange, held in the Macdonald hotel Saturday afternoon, it was decided that the adoption of the "open and closed shop order" would facilitate and safeguard business on the stock yards.

By this regulation persons or firms buying on the stock yards will be required to pay cash for the stock they buy, or put up a bond, or be guaranteed by the commission houses through which they are doing business. A committee consisting of H. Beattie, L. S. Williams, Claude Campbell, John Scott, R. A. McKinnon, Ed. Patton and Arthur Galtier, was appointed to look into the details of the new general meeting of the exchange.

The meeting was held at the principles of the "open and closed order" and the committee have still to be worked out. Another important question before the meeting was the proposal to enforce a regulation providing that each firm keep a live stock commission account. Failing this it was proposed that all monies received on sale of live stock be put into a regular trust account, both by the meeting on the argument that the $10,000 bond under which each commission firm does business was sufficient protection to their customers.

R. A. McKinnon was elected president of the exchange for the coming year, winning out in a close vote over B. M. Miller, who elected to the Vice Presidency and Thos. Hull was unanimously elected Secretary.

Referring president Miller paid a warm tribute to the work that had been done for the exchange by Mr. Burnett. Mr. Miller also congratulated the new president, Mr. Brown, stating that while defeated for the presidency he had every intention of wholeheartedly supporting the new administration and asked his supporters to do the same.

A. W. Burnett reported briefly of the annual meeting of the Canadian Live Stock Exchange which he attended last summer in Montreal.

Directors of the exchange elected a board of arbitrators: W. E. Kennedy, Ed. Patton, D. Douglas. Representatives to the Canadian Live Stock Exchange which meet this year in Calgary: J. B. Miller, G. A. Brown.

The representative on the associate board of directors of the Edmonton Exhibition, association: L. M. Williams.

Following the meeting, a banquet was held at the hotel, when wit and humor was intermingled with the excellent menu. A splendid program of songs and dances had been arranged, in which Messrs. Van Buren, Jellison and Bailey contributed a generous share but were fair out-revealed in popularity by the bagpipers as played by Bill Holland and Arthur Miller, and several Scotch dances as introduced by four small girls who were most expert of their ages.

PREMIER OLIVER MAKES APPEAL ON RAIL RATES

Presents Argument to Dominion Government Against Railway Commission Decision

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—(Canadian Press).—The appeal of the province of British Columbia to the judgment of the board of railway commissioners in the mountain freight rates case last June, was presented before the cabinet this morning by John Oliver, premier of British Columbia and G. G. McCreer, K. C. M. P., who also represented the province of Alberta, when, in making comments with British Columbia in the appeal.

Reviews Back to 1860
In an argument, Premier Oliver went back to 1860, reviewing conditions under which British Columbia entered Confederation. A principal consideration, he said, was that the province was to have equality of treatment with the other parts of Canada. As an inducement to construction, the Canadian Pacific railway had been given a large grant of land. All told, the Canadian Pacific railway received from the dominion 126,000,000 acres of land, valued at $12,000,000.

The province of British Columbia had contributed its proportionate share of this, said Mr. Oliver. He made a detailed argument to secure what he called justice for British Columbia and also for Alberta. The latter province is more especially interested because of the desirability of moving grain by the Pacific route.

The main points in the argument for British Columbia and Alberta were as follows:

1.—That British Columbia is constitutionally entitled to the same rate as the other provinces.

2.—If on account of mountainous country, the cost of operation is excessive, it must be remembered that the dominion government itself built the Canadian Pacific railway from Port Moody to Kamloops and furthermore the British Columbia land grant more than offset any disadvantage of cost due to the mountains.

3.—That the Canadian Pacific railway deliberately abandoned the Yellowhead route through which it contracted to build and which was without grade, in favor of the Rogers Pass.

4.—That the Canadian Pacific railway is an Imperial system, extending practically around the world, and that it is manifest injustice to British Columbia and Alberta to have excessive tolls levied upon them.

5.—That British Columbia's guaranteed bonds of the Canadian Northern railway in order to get control of it, have reasonable rates in British Columbia and in fact of this strong stipulation the federal parliament, indicated the province out of its contract.

Mr. Oliver said that the province was appealing against the excessive rates to the owners of the Canadian National system.

CONVERSATIONS OVER FRENCH DEBT MAY BE RENEWED

PARIS, Feb. 4.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Renewal of conversations between Great Britain and France regarding France's debt to the former is regarded here as likely in the near future as one result of the agreement for the funding of the British debt to the United States. The London correspondent of the Echo de Paris this morning says that a note suggesting such a renewal may be expected shortly and he refers to the growing feeling in all circles in Great Britain that it is not just that the United States should receive placing such a burden on the British taxpayer unless Great Britain can obtain the payment of the French and other continental debts.

BODY FOUND FROZEN
SASKATOON, Feb. 4.—The body of James Addis, 40, today was found frozen in the street at Southgate where he had lived alone. No signs of life had been noticed for three days about the place, and the neighbors called in the police. Heart failure is thought to have caused the all circles in Great Britain that it is not just that the United States should receive placing such a burden on the British taxpayer unless Great Britain can obtain the payment of the French and other continental debts.

"I Can Now Do My Work Without Feeling Tired"

Mr. A. Moffat, Ranton Falls, Que., writes:

"I suffered from a run-down system and nervous debility. I could not sleep or rest at night, and felt so weak I could not walk any distance. I took several tonics, but they only helped me while I was taking them. Mother advised me to take Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I felt great benefit from the first box, and continued taking several boxes. Today I feel like a new woman, and am able to do my work without that dreadful tired feeling."
